ALASKA
PACIFIC
UNIVERSITY

It's your path. Your future. Your move.

Career advancement. Research. Moving forward with APU.

The graduate and doctoral programs at Alaska Pacific University will provide you with the tools you need to move your life forward.

From our MBA with a variety of concentration options in areas like finance or health services administration, to the State's only Doctorate in Psychology, APU offers relevant graduate programs designed to exceed industry standards while supporting a healthy work/life/school balance.

Our MBA students go on to effect changes here in Alaska and far beyond. MBA graduates are small business owners, corporate executives, healthcare administrators, and non-profit managers. They are members of a uniquely Alaskan community: the APU Community.

Our community is built by driven, passionate, collaborative individuals who seek an education as intentional as it is distinctive, supportive as it is challenging. And that is the education they find at APU.

With our small classes, direct faculty mentor opportunities, and the real-world application of program content, the graduate and doctoral programs at APU are designed with you in mind.

Moving ahead in life, and moving life ahead.

Master of Business Administration

Live in your world.
Earn your MBA in ours.

APU's Master of Business Administration emphasizes personalized coursework and schedules that keep working professionals in mind.

At APU, you will enjoy a unique, hybrid learning experience with classes that are both online and in-person. You will soon find out that here, our faculty are your mentors. Our intentionally small classes promote student-faculty collaboration on projects like analyzing health care policy, modeling air cargo traffic projections, and examining metrics for risk management.

Through our program, you will gain professional mastery in core areas such as organizational change, global strategy, problem solving, and written and oral communication. Take advantage of opportunities to study with local, national, and international business leaders. You may even have the opportunity to study in Europe through our Executive MBA program.

MBA students just like you are at work on resume-building projects in sectors ranging from telecommunications and nonprofits to banking and the oil industry. MBA project-based learning is your foundation:

- manage the APU student investment fund
- analyze real-world conditions for Alaska-based business
- contribute expertise for the Alaska Business Plan Competition

It's time to make your move.
